

England 'healthier than the US'

Latest news says that England has healthier people than the United States. The news says that even though England has less investment in healthcare, it still has healthier people in terms of diabetic patients, high cholesterol patients, and patients with heart diseases. No one even knows why this is the case, because these two countries are so similar in terms of history and culture. People say, this may be because of England's bigger force on health prevention. Although the United States use more of healthcare technology, Americans receive less preventive healthcare. It is even said that the United States have fewer physician consultation. Many say that another reason could be social or environment conditions. Some health experts even say, smoking could be a major reason, but when asked to a doctor, he said kids that aren't even exposed to tobacco smoke are in worse health conditions than England's. This is a puzzle that needs to be solved because there must be a reason why England has fewer amount of people who have health problems, when the United States and England don't have much difference in terms of people's diet.

Dhruthi

8/1