Life in School

In everyday life, there is a regular schedule: wake up, freshen up, eat breakfast, take a bath, eat lunch, play, eat dinner, sleep. What about school: play, sleep, play, sleep, go home, play, eat dinner, sleep. When you go to school the next day, there is a test. You need to give in your homework. But you have none of those. You were sleeping in class instead of listening and at home playing Warcraft, SF, PSP, etc. No time for school. Why do we go to school? To play? I don't think so. For playing we should go to the playground. In school, concentrate on studying. Play at recess or lunch. When that time ends, then you should study. If you have free time, use that for studying.

I go to school to study. If I didn't go to school to study, only to play, I would be wasting my father's money. Because of learning English in school, I've got the honor to write this essay. From school, the learning can give you a good future. I encourage you all to concentrate in school and get a good future.
